About IDC

Founded in 1972, Interior Designers of Canada (IDC) is the national advocacy association for the interior design profession. This year IDC celebrates its 50th anniversary.

As the national advocacy body, IDC represents more than 5,000 members including fully qualified interior designers and related professionals.

Additionally, IDC has over 200 manufacturers and suppliers who provide products and services for interior design projects and firms.

The IDC strategic plan was updated in early 2021 with input from members, the Board of Directors, the Chief Executive Officer, and staff.

VISION

IDC is the national voice for interior design in Canada.

MISSION

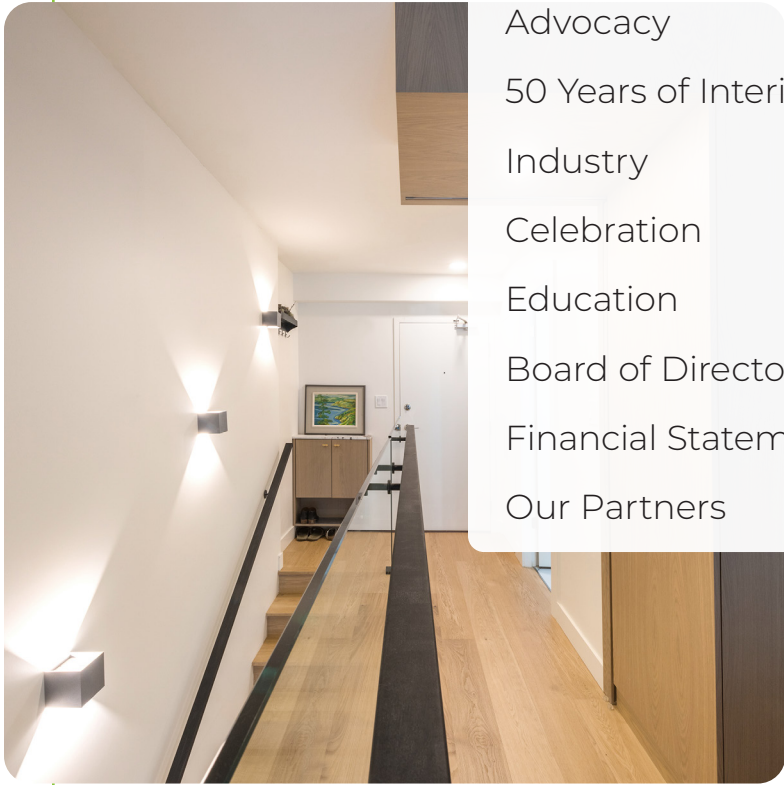

To advocate for, advance, support, and promote interior designers and the profession, nationally and internationally.

VALUES

IDC upholds integrity, innovation, sustainability, inclusion, and the belief in an ethical, accountable and positive future for members, partners and stakeholders.

Message from the President

It has been a great honour and a truly humbling experience to serve as your president of the 2021- 2022 Board of Directors.

We have had a year full of celebration, important conversations, and collective growth. My goal as IDC President was to engage with members, create an open dialog on important and timely topics, and to respond in a way that is meaningful and helpful for our collective growth as a community. My hope is that some progress was made.

I appreciated hearing from so many of you during our panel discussions, webinars, and events. I especially enjoyed hearing the stories and anecdotes about what IDC has meant to individual designers, retired members, industry partners, and those just starting out, through the lens of our 50th anniversary campaign. The campaign, which focused on the past, present, and future of interior design allowed for a variety of voices and perspectives to shine through. We heard from the founders about what it was like to build the national association from the ground up, we heard from current industry leaders about their experiences and the much-needed changes both within the industry and at IDC, and we listened to the perspectives from interns, and students, who will help carry the legacy of IDC into the future.

I am grateful that we, as a national association, have had an opportunity to engage in important conversations, and connect with other industry leaders to better represent underrepresented designers across Canada, to serve our practitioners. Together our students, interns, educators, and members, commit to creating environments for all to thrive and contribute positively to their communities. I hope that we will continue, with intentionality to create space to support all practitioners across Canada in meaningful ways.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the hard work of IDC's dedicated team and my colleagues on IDC's Board of Directors, the talented interior design and industry leaders who care deeply about the future health of the profession.

I wish your incoming IDC President nothing but success, and I look forward to continuing to engage with our members on exciting new programs and initiatives. I appreciate our members' continued dedication to IDC.

Sincerely,

Ian Rolston
President, IDC Board of Directors

This year was one of challenges, successes, and celebration for both the organization and our membership. Although we experienced another year of the global pandemic and continued to deliver programming in a mostly virtual environment while working from home – we were able to connect with members and partners across the country, through important programs, conversations, and initiatives.

As the organization's CEO, I am grateful to be part of such a supportive and engaged community filled with immense talent and innovation. I continue to be amazed at the kind of collaboration and mutual respect shared by IDC members across the country.

I am proud of the work that IDC undertook and was able to accomplish this year. Whether it was planning the programming for the 50th Anniversary Celebration campaign, connecting with speakers for panel discussions, contributing to new initiatives, or leading committees and task forces, the IDC board and staff team stepped up to help make this another fantastic year for members.

IDC is here to support members and to help tell your design stories, in a meaningful way. Our aim is to bring awareness of the importance of interior design in our daily lives, and to showcase the positive contributions of interior designers in Canada and across the globe. I hope that with the input from our community, we can continue to do that, for years to come.

I want to extend my deepest thanks to our volunteer board for their support and dedication to IDC and the tireless efforts that helps keep our organization vibrant and moving in a positive direction.

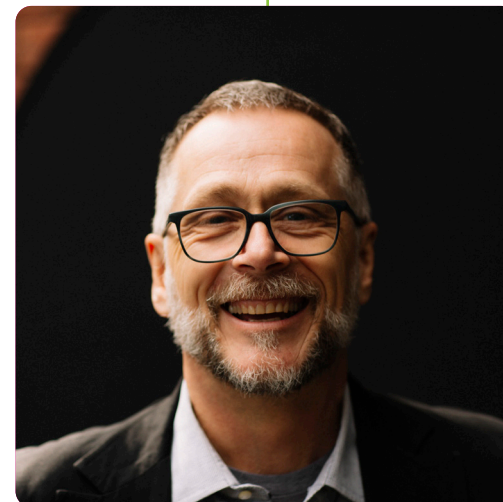

A special thanks to our dynamic, resilient, and hard-working IDC staff team that continues to work for members across the country.

And finally, I want to acknowledge and thank all our members who continue to show up, to contribute to and support their professional association. You are helping to build a better community today and for future generations of interior designers.

Sincerely,

Advocacy

Following the success of the virtual panel discussions aimed at addressing racial disparities and bias within Canada's interior design industry, IDC hosted additional panels on the topics of industry change makers, design's future, support for Black, Indigenous, and Asian Canadian designers. Additionally, two events involving the Honourable Jean Augustine were held – Decanthropy's U: By Design Program and IDC Special Event: In Conversation with Hon. Jean Augustine.

"We believe the profession of interior design impacts people every day to make a difference in how life is experienced in the context of space. The Jean Augustine Centre is impacting the lives of our future leaders as a catalyst for empowerment, innovation, and inspiration. Together we have created an opportunity to support our mandates in a meaningful way."

U: BY DESIGN PROGRAM

In partnership with the Jean Augustine Centre for Young Women's Empowerment, IDC President, Ian Rolston, presented the U: By Design Studio Workshop, designed to help youth develop a vision for their future.

The workshop, which was held on March 16, 2022, aims to engage participants in design thinking and how to apply the process to create an action plan for life. It provides tools to practice design thinking in an interactive setting that engages the imagination to help hone leadership skills and expose participants to creative professions as potential career opportunities to pursue.

BREAKING BARRIERS: CHANGE MAKERS IN THE INDUSTRY

In celebration of Black History Month and the contribution of Black Canadian interior designers, this panel discussion featured prominent Canadian designers, Amanda Lwanga, Michael London, Lani Adeyoye, and Kathryn Lawrence in conversation with IDC President, Ian Rolston.

FUTURE OF DESIGN - PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel of experts joined in conversation about the future of design. This event was created with students, interns, and junior designers in mind to help them navigate the changing landscape of interior design today. The panel featured Shir Magen, Jeremy Vandermeij, Marti Galluci, Stanley Sun, and Victoria Young in conversation with IDC CEO, Trevor Kruse.

BREAKING BARRIERS: CELEBRATING ASIAN HERITAGE MONTH

In celebration of Asian Heritage Month, this panel discussion featured prominent Asian Canadian designers Stanley Sun, Casey Yuen, and Phil Wong in conversation with IDC President, Ian Rolston. The event was held at Mason Studio.

NATIONAL MENTORSHIP PROGRAM

In 2021, IDC launched an online mentorship program platform created exclusively for Canada's interior design community. The aim of the program is to connect senior designers and retired members with students and interns across Canada. IDC members can apply to become mentors or mentees by visiting mentorship.idcanada.org and using their IDC credentials to log in and create a profile. The program platform is private and secure.

IDC thanks Lutron and Sherwin-Williams for sponsoring the panel discussions

2022 ANNUAL REPORT INTERIOR DESIGNERS OF CANADA

IDC remains committed to supporting Industry Partners to continue to build valuable relationships, strengthen connections, and promote their brand within the Canadian interior design community.

In response to the ongoing global pandemic, caused by COVID-19, IDC created opportunities through modified programming to ensure that Industry Partners continued to enjoy the benefits of their IDC membership. This includes sponsorship packages that fit an online focused industry in lieu of in-person events.

Industry

SPONSORSHIP

Industry Partners were able to sponsor IDC's Virtual Awards Presentation and Virtual Design Symposium to reach the largest IDC audiences.

VIRTUAL SHOWROOMS

During a time when visiting showrooms has become a challenge, IDC brought the showroom to members. Industry partners were able to promote their showrooms and companies to IDC's audience.

IDC PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT WEBINAR SERIES

To ensure members' continuous learning and completion of Continuing Education Units, IDC developed a series of IDCEC-approved webinars relevant to the interior design profession and practice.

Industry partners were surveyed and delivered on programming on a variety of topics that benefited members on a weekly basis. All upcoming webinars are featured on IDC's events calendar.

INDUSTRY SALES PROFESSIONALS COURSE (ISPC)

IDC offers a custom course, tailored exclusively to meet the needs of architecture and design industry sales professionals. The practical course features Q&A sessions with panels of registered interior designers and architects, drawn from boutique and large design firms serving the retail, commercial, healthcare, hospitality, and residential sectors. The formal exchanges offer an opportunity for leading designers to deliver helpful tips on how their studios operate as well as how to join their network of trusted industry resources.

The series ran as a hybrid event in October, December, March and June. Participants who attended three or more panels of the six offered, received an official ISPC certificate and LinkedIn designation attendance. A certificate of completion was issued to all registrants in attendance for each panel.

VIDEOS

Starting in spring, IDC published monthly video interviews featuring interior design trailblazers who helped build IDC from the ground up, contemporary designers who contributed to the much-needed changes within the industry and at IDC, and students and junior designers who will carry the legacy of interior design. A video presentation will be shared with members at the 50th Annual Meeting in November in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

To commemorate IDC's 50th anniversary, IDC launched a multi-faceted campaign to celebrate interior design and IDC members. The campaign is focused on honouring designers, storytelling, and showcasing diverse perspectives through the decades – from the early '70s to today, and into the future.

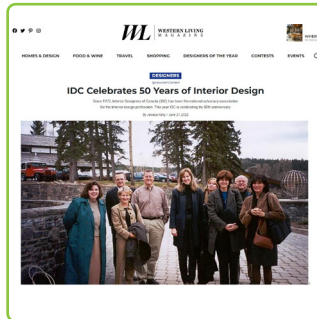

To begin the collection of interviews, IDC reached out to members and supporters across the country, which resulted in various articles, media interviews, and video clips.

VIRTUAL AWARDS CELEBRATION

On Wednesday, October 13, 2021, IDC celebrated its virtual Awards Celebration during the annual Design Symposium. The pre-recorded event was hosted by IDC President, Deborah Rutherford (now Past President), IDC Board member, Ian Rolston, and IDC CEO, Trevor Kruse, in Teknion's showroom, located in downtown Toronto, Ont. The event celebrated winners of the 2021 Value of Design Awards (VODA), recognized participants of the PROpel Emerging Leaders program, winner of the Legacy Award for Distinguished Service, and for the first time, winners of the Innovation in Design Thinking Student Competition.

A special thank you to our sponsors for making this event possible:

LEGACY AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

Aandra Currie Shearer, President of the Council for Interior Design Qualification (CIDQ) and Principal of Aandra Currie Shearer Design was the 2021 recipient of the Legacy Award for Distinguished Service. The award honours the individuals, companies or institutions that are recognized as being trailblazers to the design community nationally, and exemplify outstanding service and dedication to IDC and the interior design community in Canada.

FELLOWS

Retired Principal of SSDG Interiors Inc., Susan Steeves became an IDC Fellow in 2021. Susan has been an active member of the Interior Designers Institute of British Columbia (IDIBC) for over 25 years and was a long-time volunteer of the association. For the past eight years, she was Co-Chair of the IDIBC Regulatory Process Committee focusing on legal recognition.

INNOVATION IN DESIGN THINKING: IDC STUDENT COMPETITION

Last year, IDC created a new opportunity exclusively for Canadian interior design students. The purpose of this competition is to provide students with a national platform to demonstrate the value of interior design and illustrate the positive impact design has on the users of the spaces, supported by evidence-based research.

Winning projects of the 2021 Innovation in Design Thinking: IDC Student Competition are 'Our House: A shelter for those facing homelessness (Kitchener, Ont.) by Leah Lorentz and 'Wahid' by Basharatullah Rahmat.

VIRTUAL DESIGN SYMPOSIUM

In 2021 Interior Designers of Canada (IDC) invited members and industry leaders across North America and the globe to learn, engage, and network at the virtual Design Symposium – Building Resilience through Empathy, held on October 13 and 14, 2021.

The two-day event featured a program of in-depth education, award presentation, workshop participation, the PROpel Emerging

Leaders program, and inspiring keynote presentations. The attendees had an opportunity to dive deeper into design thinking to learn about empathy and its role in building resilience, especially in our new post-pandemic world.
