

Stacey PedinyTerritory Sales Manager, Teknion

Stacey has an education in Interior Design and over 30 years in the interior projects and renovation industry; including kitchen & bath, flooring, window covering, and both residential and contract furniture sectors. Since joining Teknion in 2012; she has become a Certified CEU provider, WELL AP™, and BIFMA Faculty Member - supporting both clients and the A&D community with education around workplace trends, strategy, and sustainability

With her background in Interior Design and a love of the outdoors, Stacey is acutely aware of the importance of the natural world and the built environment on our overall health and well being. Stacey is happy to work for an organization that knows that sustainability is a journey, a process that asks us to engage with big ideas and complex problems as part of an ongoing challenge.

Being a WELL AP aligns with the work Stacey does at Teknion, and with her personal philosophy and values. As a BIFMA Faculty member, she has gained a deeper level of understanding of Sustainability practices in the furniture industry and shares that knowledge through the Outreach & Learning Programming. Because of this passion and desire to create a better built environment and a healthier world, she has recently become the Sustainability Lead for her team.
